Welcome!

The students, administration, and faculty of Emerge International University (“EIU”) are delighted to welcome you. Congratulations on choosing EIU as the place to pursue your higher education. It's a privilege to serve you, and we look forward to assisting you as you mature in all aspects of your spiritual and intellectual life.

EIU is an institution of higher learning set apart for the education of men and women for Christian life and service. We trust that as you browse this catalog most of your questions about our school policies, student services, activities, and other matters will be answered.

This catalog serves as an introduction to our overall philosophy and institutional policies. It provides specific tips and suggestions to insure your success at EIU.

IDENTITY

EIU is an educational center of theological studies designed to equip leaders who aspire to be at the forefront of what God is revealing and doing in His Church and Kingdom (II Peter 1:12).

Its purpose is to instruct leaders in the biblical foundations of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ being the chief corner stone (Ephesians 2:20-22).

EIU strives to bring definition to leaders in accordance to God's vision, mission, and strategies through means of systematic theology, based upon the fulfillment and revelation of the New Covenant. As a result, the leaders become firmly established in the personal, family, vocational, and organizational areas of their lives.

MISSION

Identify, equip, and commission competent ministers of the New Covenant to bring reformation to their respective spheres of influence.

OBJECTIVE

Build with a biblical worldview to generate pioneering and innovative ideas to establish Christ-centered models in all stratum of society; resulting in the breaking down of religious, psychological, relational, and economic strongholds.

DISTINCTIVES

- Present the various doctrinal view points of the different schools of thought within Christendom, while defining God's apostolic and prophetic perspective from Scripture.
- Offer traditional classroom and non-traditional extension opportunities for study.
- Meet the educational needs of the Christian leader who cannot leave the ministry to return to Bible College or seminary.
- Allow advanced standing to qualified students who have attained equivalent academic training through life experience.
- Provide quality education opportunities at a cost that is within the reach of the average ministerial student.

PHILOSOPHY

EIU provides an education that promotes a biblical worldview in the minds and hearts of its students. Theologically, the University seeks to establish apostolic and prophetic foundational doctrines with the aim of equipping competent ministers of the New Covenant that will exercise their leadership skills in every sphere of life.

The University awards degrees not just on the basis of time served and credits earned, but also on the basis of competencies and performance skills. The University assumes that learning is desirable at any age, and that degrees should be available to people of all ages.

EIU does not, within the context of its Christian principles, its mission and its objectives discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, physical impairment, or gender in administration of its admission policies, educational policies, or other school-administered programs.

STATEMENT OF FAITH

In every generation the Church needs to confess its faith anew. Its confession must be consistent with the orthodox faith of the Church and yet spoken in a relevant manner to the present generation.

We believe that God, the Father, has called and baptized us into our Lord's Body by His Spirit through Faith giving us everlasting Hope.

Our statement of faith is disclosed in our web page.

HISTORICAL STATEMENT

The idea of a Christian University that prepares competent ministers of the New Covenant was birthed from a regional need to cultivate relationships, equip church leaders, impart vision, and develop team ministry based on sound doctrine and the Gospel of grace and truth. Multiple round table meetings with local ministers created a desire in the attendees to be further trained and equipped systematically in Church doctrine. EIU was developed to provide for the educational demand created.

ACCREDITATION

EIU is duly registered with the State of Florida and authorized by the state's Commission of Independent Education to operate as a religious college offering educational programs that prepare students for religious vocations as ministers in the category of Christian ministry. EIU is authorized to grant religious degrees. EIU operates without governmental oversight.

For those desiring to transfer credits to a college, university, or seminary in the United States, it is best to contact the respective institution and determine how they view religious degrees granted by institutions such as EIU. We cannot guarantee that institutions in the United States of America will accept such accreditation; however, we are willing to answer any questions regarding this issue.

ADMISSIONS

Undergraduate Admissions Policies and Information

Admission to EIU is governed by policies and procedures developed and approved by the faculty and the Board of Directors. A prospective student is assessed according to academic background, moral character, and personal testimony for the Lord Jesus Christ.

In considering applications, the Admissions Office reviews prior educational record, recommendations, plans for the future, and personal information. If the applicant meets the required standards and appears to be one who can successfully complete a degree program, he or she is admitted as a degree-seeking student on a college credit basis. See below for information on non-degree students.

EIU admits students of any sex, race, color, age and national or ethnic origin. Demographic information is requested solely to enable the University to complete the statistical reports required of educational institutions. All such information is considered confidential and is not applicable to the admissions process. Answering such questions on the application is optional.

Applicants must sign a covenantal statement agreeing that he or she will follow the established Standards of Conduct of EIU.

Conduct: Student conduct is under the supervision of the University. EIU reserves the right to dismiss any student who engages in inappropriate behavior or whose conduct is found to be unsatisfactory on the basis of the moral, spiritual, and ethical principals found in Scripture.

Application Procedure: Communications regarding admission should be addressed to the Admissions Office. The Admissions Office responds to all inquiries by providing an application packet that contains informational materials, such as EIU's official Catalog and Orientation Manual (one in the same), as well as the following forms required for admission:

- Application for Admission. This form requests information regarding personal data, academic background, and financial data.
- Official Transcripts. An official transcript of the applicant's high school record is to be mailed directly from the office of the recognized high school certifying graduation. This transcript must show a minimum of sixteen units satisfactorily completed. A mature individual may be admitted based on a high school equivalency diploma from any state, subject to close academic supervision. The General Educational Development (G.E.D.) Test may be used for anyone who did not complete high school. Applicants submitting their scores from the G.E.D. test shall be evaluated on an individual basis. Applicants must also submit official transcripts from any Bible or Educational Institute of higher education that he or she desires to transfer credits from.
- Covenantal Statement
- Personal Reference Forms

The Admissions Office will review all materials and screen all applicants before presenting the application files to the Committee on Academic Standards and Admissions. The Committee determines the acceptance of applicants and has sole responsibility for cases in which applicants have only marginal qualifications for admission. Applicants who are unable to meet some of the above requirements, may petition the Committee for an exception.

Notification: Applicants must submit all required forms before the University issues an official notification of acceptance as students. Once the application materials are received and evaluated, students will be notified in writing of the Committee's decision.

Application Fee: A one-time only, non-refundable and non-transferable application fee of $30.00 must accompany each application for admission. The fee covers only the processing of the application and is not applicable to other fees or tuition charges.

Transfer Students: The transfer applicant must submit all of the forms listed above including an official transcript from each institution of higher education attended. Information must be sent directly to EIU from the Director of Admissions and Records of the respective institution(s).

Evaluation of Transfer Credits: Credits are generally accepted if the transferred work satisfactorily parallels courses offered by the University and is not highly specialized. Transcript(s) will be evaluated under the guidelines established by the Committee on Academic Standards and Admissions. No transfer of credits will be finalized until the application process is completed and the student is officially accepted.

Transfer of Credits Disclaimer: Since each institution of higher education has its own policies related to transfer credits, a student must understand that credits earned at EIU do not automatically transfer to other universities. It is the responsibility of the student to ascertain the transfer policies at other institutions. The acceptance of EIU credits by another institution is determined solely by that institution.

Life Experience Credit: EIU awards credit based on prior ministerial, career or other life experience. See the section on "Transfer of Life Experience".

Degree Students: A degree student is one who is enrolled in one or more degree programs offered by EIU. A degree student must complete the standard application procedure required of all applicants and must submit the application fee. A degree student must pay the tuition rates and student activity fees. A degree student must satisfy all degree requirements including any general education courses that may apply.

Non-Degree Students: A non-degree student is one desiring to take only a limited number of courses for credit or desires a certificate of biblical studies but who is not interested in enrolling in a degree program. A non-degree student must complete the standard application procedure required of all applicants and must submit the application fee. The usual tuition rates and student activity fees apply. If a non-degree student decides to transfer his or her credits to a degree program at EIU, he or she must satisfy all degree requirements including any general education courses that may apply.

Observer Status: Observer status is assigned to a person who only attends the class sessions. Observers are hearers only; they are not students. Observers are not required to have a completed application for admission on file nor transcript records in the Admissions Office. Observers may not participate in class discussions but are required to purchase all course materials. Observers are not required to submit homework or other required assignments of a degree student. Observers pay full tuition. Observers do not receive credit hours for their attendance.

Continuing Education Units (CEU): One CEU may be awarded for each semester hour of credit. That same standard shall apply to all students seeking CEU's. For example, any student who passes a three hour course with a "C" or better may receive three CEU's upon written request. CEU students shall be regarded as degree students. They shall be required to complete the regular registration/application process. All customary costs of degree seeking students shall apply.

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act: EIU subscribes to, and adheres to, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA) and has developed policies and procedures for the implementation of the Act. The Act guarantees students access to their educational records and protects their rights to privacy by limiting the disclosure of their records without their written consent. In compliance with the requirements of FERPA, the University has established procedures to enable the student to request modification of any allegedly erroneous entries in his or her records. Records may be accessed in EIU's Registrar's Office. A $20.00 fee will be charged for each official student record copy.

Licensing and Ordination Policies: A degree from EIU does not represent that the institution is recommending the student for ordination or credentials. Each autonomous congregation, ministry network, or denomination has its own set of guidelines for ordaining and issuing credentials to its ministers.

LATIN HONOR	ACADEMIC GRADE
Summa Cum Laude "with highest honor"	4.0
Magna Cum Laude "with great honor"	3.80 - 3.99

It should be noted that each educational institution sets its own standards, and these standards often vary greatly between different educational institutions.

With this in mind, the University tries to maintain its costs below a fair market rate and will exercise the utmost of care and empathy at the time of dealing with students that do not meet their financial obligations. Furthermore, we have established a comfortable and convenient monthly payment plan option in order to make it easier for students to meet their financial responsibility with the University.

Ministers receive a 50% discount of tuition fees for any of the above listed programs when 10 or more of their congregational members enroll and maintain in the University. If they choose to use their entitled discount for one of their members, EIU will honor their request. Spouses of enrolled students that meet admission requirements are eligible for a 50% discount of tuition fees for all undergraduate level courses taken by their spouse. Graduate degree students pay full tuition.

We encourage churches, ecclesiastical organizations, and private corporations to support their members by assisting them with their tuition costs. Please contact our offices if you desire to contribute to our scholarship program.
